MCCA National Club Plan

Dear Stakeholders,

I am pleased to present the Minority Christian Coaches Association (MCCA) National Club Plan, which highlights our effort to partner with public school systems, youth service agencies, churches and volunteer groups to mentor disadvantaged inner-city boys.

This year we will be kicking off our national plan in 13 states across the country. Over the last 14 years we have worked specifically with young urban boys to offer them mentors, Christian devotions, leadership training and workforce placement with great success.

Our goal is to identify five agencies in each state who will partner with MCCA. We will mentor boys aged 12 to 16 at these agencies through our Work Ready and Sons of David mentor clubs. Each of these partnerships will be funded through our Christian Programs for Inner-City Children (CPIC International) fund.

Through MCCA's national plan we begin to fulfill our ministry vision, "To see urban centers throughout the world impacted by the love of Jesus Christ", as we train up a generation of boys to become strong Christian men.

We thank all our faithful partners over the years for believing in our mission and it's impact specifically in Wisconsin and Pennsylvania. Help MCCA embark on this new venture, as we put our hope in Jesus Christ to build up a nation of young men who will break free from the poverty stricken communities that enslave them.

Please keep MCCA and CPIC International in your prayers as we finally embrace our vision.

Thank you for your continued support and believing in our ministry.

Sincerely,

Rafeal Andrews
CEO/President

Mentor Club Partnerships

Club Partnerships

MCCA is looking to partner with schools, colleges, churches and community based agencies to offer our Work Ready and Sons of David club programs. Clubs are designed to give adult male role models a platform to teach young inner-city boys Christian principles, character education, life skills and leadership development. The clubs help young boys transition into adulthood with the mentorship of an adult man to help them understand the fundamentals of individual responsibility and what it takes to become a strong independent adult man.

Enrollment Process

Inner-city boys from the age of 12 -16 are eligible for scholarships. Most youth enroll through their schools or community agencies. Classes are typically held after school, on weekends or during the summer months.

Scholarship Opportunities

Through CPIC International we will be able to offer scholarships to 5 schools or agencies in 13 states across the country. Phase one is identifying these partners with the goal of kicking off at least 2 schools in each state by September 2011. Phase two is to identify all 5 partnership schools or agencies by September 2012. All clubs will be given a $2,000 three year start-up scholarship. Scholarships are made through Christian Programs for Inner-City Children, our national scholarship fund.

A Nation Without Kings:

Raiding our Villages and Imprisoning our Fathers

Inner-city boys in the United States are going into the criminal justice system at a rate that is appalling. Why are we pawing off our young minority males? Statistics show that once a child is labeled or injected into these systems they become a commodity for all the providers who partner with these twenty-first century slave masters. Is there really a conspiracy to make all inner-city boys slaves? Inner-city boys need to learn the principles of manhood and what it takes to overcome the harsh realities of single parent rearing without putting their hope in the god of basketball or recreation. Also, why is playing basketball at the typical after school recreation program failing our young men?

These are real questions we hope to answer in our new workshop series A Nation Without Kings: Raiding our Villages and Imprisoning our Fathers. The workshops will educate inner-city young boys on the business of keeping them slaves to the social welfare system, wards of the court, in prison and most importantly, invisible fathers.

Over the next five years MCCA will teach young boys through our mentor clubs to become independent, self-sufficient, work ready and how to avoid the evil systems in place, which are keeping them from becoming responsible Christian MEN.

We are very excited to partner with schools, colleges, churches, and community agencies throughout the USA to truly empower disadvantaged boys.

The workshop series A Nation Without Kings will be available on our website mccasports.org free of charge on March 25, 2011. Other free workshop materials posted are the Work Ready and Sons of David workshop manuals. For more information about workshops and club scholarships call (262) 397-8663.
