MCCA Sports ACADEMY

Building Future Leaders!

By Rafeal Andrews

The Minority Christian Coaches Association (MCCA) theme is “BUILDING FUTURE LEADERS”. As the founder of the MCCA, I not only enjoy empowering communities with the MCCA Sports Academy programs, but my personal testimony is an example of what it means to be “Building Future Leaders”. From Single parent home and living in the projects to starting the MCCA, I believe in minority empowerment.

As a juvenile, I had to overcome a number of obstacles. As a ward of the court from the age of thirteen to nineteen, I had to believe in God’s divine Will for my life. At the age of thirteen I was placed in a group home for three and a half years. From there I lived fourteen months with foster parents. After the foster home I was sent to Glen Mills School, a reform school in Concord Ville, Pennsylvania, where I graduated after 11 months.

After Glen Mills I was homeless for 4 months. I even tried college, but failed out in my third semester with a 1.0. Shortly after wards I came to Wisconsin with only 5 dollars. It was in Milwaukee where I met Reggie White, a former Green Bay Packer, and a man named Vaso who became mentors and helped me understand what a faith commitment in Jesus Christ was and how he could give my life meaning.

I put Christ at the center of my life and began to understand he allowed me to experience these trials for the purpose of being a witness to others. My life is just one example of God’s process of “Building Future Leaders”. At this point I seriously pursued the Lord and his Will for my life. At the age of twenty-one I returned back to college, earned my bachelor in social work and a minor in theology from Concordia University, Mequon.

In 1996, with the assistance of my two mentors, we developed the Youth Leadership & Fitness program to help minority by providing weekly structured recreational outings to the YMCA. With the vision to empower and teach Christian Principles to all minorities, in 2002 we changed our name to the Minority Christian Coaches Association to establish the MCCA SPORTS Academy. Every year since the camps inception we have grown and our total impact has been greater than any thing we could ever imagine. This year we are even more excited about the new programs focused on “Building Future Leaders” we will be offering our campers.

Rafeal Andrews
MCCA President

All the success of the MCCA Sports Academy would not have been possible if it were not for God bringing the community leaders, families, youth serving agencies and many others to the table to create a Christ centered program. A program focused on “Building Future Leaders” in our community and the world. As you read through the summer camp brochure you will better understand how the theme is put to practice.

Join the MCCA team in 2005 as we come together in the body of Christ to Promote “Building Future LEADERS” and give our minority youth structure, accountability and most importantly the knowledge of their role as a leader in the body of Jesus Christ today and in the future.
